With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valley must save.

Union County Convention.

The loyal voters of Multnomah County who are in favor of loyalty, union, freedom and emancipation—who are in favor of a republican democracy instead of a monied aristocracy and a slave oligarchy—who are ready and willing to support the present federal administration in the measures it has employed to preserve the Union and put down the rebellion—in fine, all good, sound, unconditional Union men are requested to meet in their several precincts at the usual place of voting, on Thursday, the 3d March next, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of choosing delegates to attend the County Convention to be held at the Court House in Portland, on Saturday, the 12th March next, P. M., to elect Delegates to attend the Union State Convention, at the time place, and for the purpose recommended by the Union State Central Committee, and also to transact any other business proper to be done by the Convention.

The several precincts will be entitled to the following number of delegates to the County Convention: North Portland, 10; South Portland, 20; Sauvie's Island 3; St. Johns, 1; Willamette 2; Sandy, 2; Powell's Valley, 2; Multnomah, 1; Multnomah No. 2, 2.

It is earnestly hoped that a full attendance will be had at the several precinct meetings, thereby expressing the wishes of the people at our coming County and State Conventions. The bad of submitting to political trades made by aspiring demagogues.

By order of the Committee.

A. J. DUPUR, Chairman.

Significant Confessions.

In the items of Eastern news published this morning, our readers will see that members of the rebel Congress begin to admit, like Cain, that their burden is greater than they can bear. One of them said the South was "unable to feed its army of 200,000 men." Another thought if that was so, "the sooner terms were made with Lincoln the better." A Virginian said his State could not stand another draft, and it was admitted that "as the crops were below the average, if more men were put into the army starvation must inevitably follow." Finally, the new conscript bill was passed, which exempts farmers and planters on condition of their giving an additional tenth of their supplies to the Government. What a picture of rebel weakness is here presented, drawn not by any opponent, but frankly exhibited and vouched for by the leaders in the great conspiracy! How long is it likely that such a state of things can exist, and the rebellion prosper? Men cannot fight while starving, and they will not—when they they can make "any terms with Lincoln," which simply require their submission to a Government, under which they were born and have grown to manhood—he disposed to continue to bear a part in a hopeless contest. We regard these statements thus openly made, which are doubtless entirely true, as the most [illegible] of the great conspiracy. The handwriting shows out upon the wall so distinctly that the most ardent sympathizer with the rebellion cannot deny or doubt its pregnant meaning. The vitality of secession is gone. It cannot live when its army is despondent and starving. It must soon give up the ghost, when its friends in the rebel Congress say that they have made the utmost efforts, and nothing more can be done in its behalf.

MELANCHOLY CASUALTY.—Mr. Frank Howard and wife, of Clackamas County, residing a few miles east of Oregon City, were both drowned last Saturday evening while fording the Molalla River. They had been at a religious meeting, and at the time of their return, the river had been so much raised by the recent rain, that as they were in the stream, the water lifted the bed of the wagon from the carriage they floated down the stream, which was running very rapidly, and neither being able to swim, were drowned. The bodies were found some distance below the crossing on Monday. Mr. H. and his wife were excellent people, and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. Three young children are left orphans by this sudden accident.

GEN. SCOTT'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE SANITARY FAIR AT CINCINNATI.—Following is a copy of an autograph letter by Gen. Scott:

NEW YORK, December 8, 1863.

SIR.—To acknowledging the call from the Great Western Sanitary Fair, of Cincinnati, Ohio, for autographs and unpublished historical letters and documents, I regret to report that all of my old public papers not in print are, at present, beyond my convenient reach, and that I am now engaged in working up into personal memoirs such later MSS. of the same character that are by me. Replying, however, the lowest interest in all my brother soldiers of the Union army, whether on field or in hospital, and almost daily contributing a mite toward the relief of the sick and wounded, to the same end I enclose some photographs, half a dozen inscribed with my name, which, I fear may prove a greater number than will find a marketable value at your contemplated auction.

With the prayer that the Fair may have the success due to its noble purpose, I remain, with great respect, your obedient servant,

J. D. CALDWELL, Esq. WINFIELD SCOTT.

OREGON IN CONGRESS.—From the Washington Daily Globe, we learn that on the 18th of December, Senator Harding introduced the following bills:

Mr. Harding asked, and by unanimous consent obtained leave, to introduce a bill granting lands to the State of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military road from Eugene City to the southern or eastern boundary of said State, which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

He also asked, and by unanimous consent obtained, leave to introduce a bill granting lands to the State of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military road from the Dalles of Columbia river to a point at or near the mouth of Owyhee river; which was read twice by its title and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

He also asked, and by unanimous consent obtained, leave to introduce a bill to authorize the President to negotiate a treaty with the Klamath, Modoc, and other Indian tribes in south-eastern Oregon; which was read twice by its title and referred to the Committee of Indian Affairs.

NEW UNION PAPER AT ALBANY.—We learn that the "Albany Printing and Publishing Company," of which T. Monteith, J. H. Foster, A. Hanna, H. M. Brown and H. N. George are Directors will begin the publication of the Albany Journal, on the 12th of next month. The names of the directors are a sufficient guarantee of the inflexible loyalty of the paper, and we hope it will receive the patronage, which its love and services to the cause of the Union are sure to deserve.

EASTERN NEWS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—In the rebel House of Representatives, January 30th, an important debate occurred on the question of conscription.

Smith of North Carolina stated that the strength of the rebel army was 200,000 men, whom the country was unable to feed.

Chambers of Virginia said they could feed double that number; if not, the sooner they make terms with Lincoln the better. Everybody expects that the next Spring will be the heaviest and most decisive campaign that will occur.

Edmonds of Virginia said his State could not send another man. This was the opinion of all the conscripting officers who have recently assembled at Richmond.

Holcomb of Virginia thought the most vital point of the Federals was their finances, and the policy of the South was to protract the war. Our fiscal resources were far below the average. Take away more men and intervention will be the inevitable result.

Other speeches were made, and the bill under discussion passed—ayes 41, noes 31. It enforces the Conscript Law so as to exempt farmers and planters on condition of their giving an additional tenth of their supplies for the use of the army.

On the following day after the debate a bill passed to impress all males free negroes between eighteen and fifty years of age to work on the fortifications, and for the production or preparation of material of war, or for the military hospitals—they to be compensated at the rate of eleven dollars per month; also to employ twenty thousand slaves in a similar manner, at the same rate of compensation; owners to receive full pay for those who die in the service or escape to the enemy; also allowing the impressment of slaves in any military department where they can be obtained in the above manner, to the number of twenty thousand, they to be paid for as above. Free negroes are to be in all cases impressed first.

The Enquirer, in a leader, suggests that the Confederate currency having lost its purchasing quality, and the steady action of impressment having already almost failed, and being sure to lose its potency altogether in a few months, the Commissary Department ought to advertise for proposals to furnish 30,000,000 rations of beef, to be paid for in cotton and tobacco.

The Times special dispatch from Washington says: A letter received here from an officer on Banks's staff at Brownsville (Texas), says the Mexicans are reorganizing their armies for offensive operations in the Spring. They are confident of their ability to drive the French out of the country before next fall.

A New Orleans letter, dated February 4th, says: General Banks has issued long and regulations on the subject of compressed plantation labor. Fixing the rates thereof, interdicting flogging and the sale of intoxicating drinks to plantation hands or laborers, and permitting choice of employers; but when an agreement is made they will be held to it one year. Laborers will be permitted, on a limited scale, to cultivate land on private account.

A report had reached Port Hudson that General Bragg had been appointed Assistant Secretary of War for the Trans-Mississippi Department by Jeff. Davis, and was now at Alexandria (La.)

A special dispatch to the Post says: The Military Committee of the House this morning agreed upon a resolution that all the Generals who, on the 10th of March next, shall not have been in active service for the past three months, shall be dismissed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee have agreed upon an amendment to the Constitution forever prohibiting slavery in the United States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In the Senate to-day, Trumbull of Illinois reported, from the Judiciary Committee, various bills to alter the Constitution, and an amendment, by way of a substitute, providing for the abolishment of slavery through State Legislatures.

It is believed that the action of the State Convention to amend the Constitution, will make an extra Session of the Eastern Virginia Legislature necessary, at which an election for two Senators will probably be held.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Special Senate Committee on Slavery, of which Sumner is Chairman, met for the first time to-day and agreed to introduce a bill repealing the Fugitive Slave Law.

In the House, the Special Committee on the Bankrupt Law have adopted a bill empowering Judges of District Courts to appoint Registers on Bankruptcy, with full power, where there is no opposition. If there be opposition, District Judges are to hear and determine the cases in Circuit Courts, and are to have supervision and concurrent jurisdiction. Provision is made both for voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy. All corporations are included in its League last night adopted resolutions denouncing the election of United States Senator by the present Legislature as an infamous fraud upon the people and a disgrace to the State, and expelling the members of the Legislature belonging to the League who voted for the resolution for the election of Senator. A meeting of citizens was held to-night; similar meetings will be held throughout the State. No candidate was voted for against Carney. Thirty-one votes were cast, but they were all blank or against the fraud. The minority, and a portion of the State officers, have issued a protest against the election.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.—A Forth Smith (Ark.) telegram says: Fears are entertained for the safety of the Indian brigade which moved south from Fort Gibson to North Fork town, on the Canadian river. At last accounts they were fighting a largely superior rebel force.

The rebel iron-clad, at Kingston, on the Neuse, is considered a very formidable affair. There are reports that she is about ready to act in concert with the force threatening Newbern.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12th.—The Enrollment Bill passed the House to-day. Both classes are consolidated. Any person drafted into the military service before the time fixed for his appearance for duty furnish an acceptable substitute, if the substitute is not himself liable to the draft, the person furnishing him to be exempt from the draft during the time for which said substitute is not liable to the draft, not exceeding the time for which he is drafted; and if such substitute be liable to draft, the person furnishing him will be subject to the draft falling in future calls. A drafted person paying a commutation of $300, shall be relieved from the draft during the time for which he is drafted, unless the names placed in the box are sooner exhausted, in which case his name shall be returned to the wheel.

A number of religious denominations, conscientiously opposed to bearing arms, shall, when drafted, be assigned to duty in hospitals or pay $300—the money to be applied to the benefit of the sick and wounded soldiers. No persons are entitled to the benefit of this section unless a declaration of conscientious scruples, supported by satisfactory evidence that the department has been uniformly consistent with such declaration. Mariners and seamen drafted have a right to enlist in the navy within eighty days after notification of their being drafted. The following persons are exempted from enrollment and draft:

Such as are physically or mentally unfit for service; all persons actually in the military or naval service of the United States at the time of the draft; all persons who have served in the military and naval service two years during the present war, and have been honorably discharged therefrom. All other exemptions are confined to the Vice President, the Governors of States, and U. S. Judges. The bill also provides for the enrollment of able-bodied males of African descent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The Raleigh (N. C.) Progress contains a strong article against the new Confederate Enrollment Act, and says if Congress don't put down the military despotism from the people they must submit quietly or resist the tyranny; that resistance to tyrants is obedience to God, and that the people of North Carolina will not hesitate as to which course they should pursue. The passage of the tyrannical bill is recommended by the Military Committee and the collision so long talked of between North Carolina and the Confederate States is upon us.

A Washington special dispatch to the Times says that the batch of nominations for Brigadier and Major Generals sent by the President to the Senate on Wednesday, the 10th, were returned to the President yesterday, by the Military Committee, with a statement that there were no vacancies whatever for new Generals, and that these appointments were, therefore, illegal.

The Senate Military Committee have unanimously determined not to report General Schofield's name to the Senate for confirmation.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF WEST VIRGINIA, Feb. 11.—Captured private letters from persons within the rebel lines contain much curious information in relation to difficulties resulting from the enforcement of the rebel conscription law. The letters mention daily encounters between citizens and soldiers. One letter says the encounters have been attended with loss of life.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Feb. 11.—Since the late movement fewer deserters have come in than previously. On some parts of the line the rebel pickets shout at our cavalry vedettes.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 10.—Gen. Foster and command arrived safely at Yorktown this morning.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN AND THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Dates to February 18th

Union Association in Virginia.

A Raid into Kentucky and Pennsylvania Expected.

Particulars of escape of Union Prisoners from Richmond.

Capture of the Alabama Confirmed.

Lands Granted Oregon for Military Posts.

Non-Combatants sent out of Mobile in anticipation of an attack by Sherman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The Washington special dispatch to the Commercial says: There is no disposition on the part of Congress to grant authority to Secretary Chase to sell the surplus gold in the Treasury. The friends of repeal at the receipts of the Custom House between now and July 1st will be twice than sufficient to meet the payments that may be due up to that time, and that a judicious management of the Treasury will put a stop to speculation in gold. Others fear that if the gold is to come from the Treasury, it will be exhausted, and thus have a disastrous effect on the finances.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 11.—Our cavalry are scouring the country to the Chickahominy. Two gunboats have gone up the James river, to give protection to such as can be found.

The Richmond Examiner of the 11th announces the murder of one colonel, three captains and one lieutenant.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In the House to-day Mr. Davis of Massachusetts, moved that the credentials of Andrew M. Johnson, Representative elect from Arkansas be referred to the committee on elections. A motion to table it was lost, after a lengthy debate, and it was referred to a select committee on reconstruction, with instructions.

The House then resumed consideration of whisky amendments to the revenue bill.

In the Senate a bill granting lands to Oregon to aid in the construction of military posts was passed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A special dispatch to the Herald, from Headquarters Army of West Virginia, says: Reports are in circulation of a rebel movement towards Romney.

From Gen interpreted rebel letters we glean much interesting information. One letter says that a Colonel Jenkins has been commissioned in Virginia, and is raising a brigade under the conscript law. Another letter says that Jeff. Davis has ordered several suspicious persons to be arrested, and that his agents are now on the hunt for all suspected traitors.

The Tribune's Washington letter says: Lee has received 30,000 recruits, and Longstreet is also to be strengthened. His force is said to be 40,000.

Breckinridge and Buckner are to make a raid into Kentucky—one to be assisted by Longstreet, and the other is to remain in reserve at Cumberland Gap, or, advancing into Middle Tennessee, will attempt a movement in the rear of Grant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Army officers from the front express the opinion that within ten days the roads will be in condition to enable the rebels to move, and they will then, it is thought, commence spring operations by either attacking us in front or endeavor to drive Meade into the fortifications at Washington, and then will march rapidly into Pennsylvania, plundering and laying waste as they did last year, and fighting only pitched battles when necessary.

PROVIDENCE (R. I.), Feb. 17.—Governor Smith announces that the quota of his State under the call is full.

HARTFORD, Feb. 17.—The Union State Convention of Connecticut to-day re-nominated all of the present State officers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17th.—A bill was reported to-day granting certain States the right to come into the Union under a Republican form of government, in substance as follows: The State Conventions shall adopt the following propositions: 1st, No person who has held or exercised any office, civil or military, State or Confederate, under the usurping power, shall vote for members of the Legislature or for Governor. 2d, Involuntary servitude shall be forever prohibited, and free labor for all shall be guaranteed in said State. 3d, No State or Confederate officer, under the sanction of a usurping power, shall be recognized by the State. These new Constitutions are to be submitted to the people, and, if adopted, the President by proclamation, or Congress by any act, shall declare said State, in the Union, and when Senators or Representatives thereof shall elect, they shall be admitted to their seats. All persons who are in the service of the United States Senator by the present Legislature as an infamous fraud upon the people and a disgrace to the State, and expelling the members of the Legislature belonging to the League who voted for the resolution for the election of Senator. A meeting of citizens was held to-night; similar meetings will be held throughout the State. No candidate was voted for against Carney. Foreign News.

The London Morning Herald believes that the English Cabinet has sent dispatches to Vienna and Berlin to assure those Courts of the hostile attitude England would assume in case of Schleswig be invaded.

The London Morning Post says: Pending the visit of Prussian plenipotentiaries, every effort will be made to localize, (probably such a course will be accepted that it must be accepted.

A Vienna telegram says a Danish note proposing a conference was presented to Austria Sunday.

A Vienna letter, dated January 25th says the acceptance of the throne of Mexico by Maximilian is now an accomplished fact. His Imperial Highness will return from Trieste to Miramar to make final preparations for his journey. The Mexican deputation is expected in March, when the Emperor elect will leave for Mexico.

LONDON, January 28.—The Danish question continues the engrossing topic. England remonstrates against warlike proceedings. It is reported that twenty or thirty thousand troops will be placed on a war footing.

The Anglo-Prussian Vanguard was ordered to march from Kiel to the Eider Canal.

General Hegg has issued an order to the effect that Poland will, in future, be governed by Russian law.

It is stated that the British Government has transferred the control of some land on the Clyde which was constructed for the Confederates.

The Polish insurrection was reported to be increasing in Lublin.

LONDON, January 30.—The Prussian troops continue to advance, and their commander had demanded the evacuation of Schrawg by the Danes.

Mexican Intelligence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Mexican Minister has received advices from the Juarez Government to January 22d. Juarez was at Saltillo. The reported capture of the city of San Luis Potosi is not confirmed, although Doblado had entered that State.

The Archbishop and numerous Bishops had entered a protest, in the name of the whole Mexican clergy, against a decree of the French regency declaring that acquisitions of the Church property under the Acts of the Liberal Government should be forfeited by the Church. In this protest the Bishops say their condition is worse than under Juarez. With other grievances they mention the fact that they have no liberty to express their opinions. The protest concludes by excommunicating the authorities who issued the decree, and all yielding obedience to it.

Letter from Boise.

PLACERVILLE, Feb. 7th, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Since my last letter we have had another shooting frolic, and the particulars as near as I can learn are as follows: The shooting was between a Mr. Holbrook and a Mr. Brittain, both formerly from Northern California, Mr. Brittain lately from Virginia City, Washoe. Mr. Holbrook, it was said, circulated some reports in relation to Mr. Brittain which Mr. Brittain heard and asked Holbrook about the matter. This led to high words, and Holbrook drew his revolver and, level on at Brittain who had a derringer, but unfit for use. Mr. Johnson was standing near and pulled his revolver and told H. if he shot towards the Magdolia Saloon (Mr. Johnson's house) he would shoot H. Mr. Brittain told Johnson to cover Holbrook until he could get a pistol, and started [illegible] Holbrook fired; some say one fired first and some the other. Brittain then went out into the street and the play commenced in good earnest. Some eight or ten shots were fired. Brittain fired four or five and Holbrook five or six. Four of Brittain's took effect in the clothes and person of Holbrook, to wit: one through the coat, one in each thigh, and one crossing the back of the neck almost to the depth of the ball. Brittain was not touched. None of the wounds are considered dangerous, although the one in the back of the neck was a loud call for the land of glory. It is thought this will not end the matter. The shooting took place Jan. 30th.

There is a big rush from this Basin to the Owyhee already setting in. The report came to this place last Thursday evening, that the Indians had murdered ten men out of thirteen at Snake river on the route from Boise City to Owyhee. The report came pretty correct. The three men who escaped, got to Dry Creek on Tuesday night, and from there sent a messenger to Boise City on Wednesday morning, where one of our citizens was at the time of the arrival of the messenger, he being on his return from Owyhee. He arrived home on Thursday and gave this intelligence. As far as he is concerned the rumor is correct, but some here doubt it. Time will reveal the truth or falsity of the report.

The challenge of the Placerville Sleighing Club was accepted by the Bannock Club, and the race came off first in our city on last Thursday, between the cutters Flying Cloud of Placerville, and Wide West, of Bannock, for $100 a side, three in five—four heats—contention and disagreement, and money drawn. Placerville Club gave Bannock Club a dinner—good time generally. Next day the race came off at Centreville course, for the rival cutters, as the wager, and the Bannock boys took the Placerville cutter home with them.

The weather here is very fine, in fact too fine, for our snow is going off without furnishing us with any water.

Pack trains continue to arrive and the roads are good. Provisions are plenty and likely to so continue. The first express through from your city for the past four weeks, arrived last Friday, but we hope for better things in the future. We look for the Salt Lake express in soon, with later news than you have or that you can furnish us. Other things remain here about as usual. I remain yours, &c.

OREGON TOBACCO.—The Statesman says that thirty-six boxes of Oregon raised tobacco, raised near Scio, in Linn Co., were shipped last week from Salem to Umatilla. Good! If people will use the weed, we hope the farmers of our State will be profited by its cultivation.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. — The Celebration of Washington's Birthday in this city passed off in a creditable manner, notwithstanding the very unfavorable state of the weather. The National Salute, fired in the morning, much reminded one of a regular 4th of July opening. The principal attraction of the day consisted in the liberal display of Stars and Stripes, from the numerous flag staffs in the city. Thirty-two flags, floating to the breeze, were counted by a casual observer while standing at a point upon Washington street, which speaks well for the true loyalty of our citizens, and goes to show that the old emblem of our National rights is sought to be cherished in the dark hours of our existence as a free people. The number of military Companies on parade was less than was expected in consequence of rain, at Vancouver in the morning. Company A, Capt. Powell, and Company B, Capt. Mills, of the 1st Regiment of O. V. M., under command of Col. McCraken, were out in full number, and reviewed by Governor Gibbs. Commander-in Chief, Brigadier Gen. Gotha and Staff, and a number of Regular and Volunteer Officers of the U. S. service. The review was very satisfactory, after which there was considerable marching and counter-marching done, when at the invitation of Capt. Randall, the battalion, retired to the armory of the Portland Guards, where an impromptu banquet was served, by the officers of that Company, and brief exercises passed through with, during which time the following toast was offered by Governor Gibbs:

"WASHINGTON—The Father of his Country—who provided a country never to be divided."

About 5 o'clock P. M. the battalion marched to the armory of Company B, and partook of an excellent dinner, after which Company A, was escorted to its armory by the Washington Guards, and returning were dismissed. The Mechanics' Band furnished the music, and they certainly did better than on any previous occasion, if such a thing was possible. By request of Mr. S. N. Arrigoni, the military officers and other guests repaired to the dining hall of the Pioneer Hotel and discussed a dinner prepared for them by that popular host, with his compliments. Thus the day passed, without an incident to mar the good feeling that prevailed, in spite of the dismal appearance of the atmosphere. When the lamps were lighted in the evening it was only to witness a repetition of pleasures and festivities. The new hall was brilliantly illuminated, and the third annual ball of No. 2, was the finest affair of the kind that has ever occurred in Portland. Two bands of music were employed, and dancing was kept up until an hour the following morning.

CURIOSITY in the shape of a piece of cotton root, showing the disadvantages under which it has struggled for existence, in a hilly soil, may be seen at our office. The short indentations show with what remarkable ability it has clung to life, in pressing through crevices, and around boulders in search of soil. At one place a large gravel stone has been completely surrounded by the root, and at others the casing through which it has passed has left it little more than a mere shell of an inch in thickness.

MINING COMPANIES.—The new mining companies that filed articles of incorporation with the County Clerk on Saturday last, are—"Crabo and Driggs," "The Empire" and "The Morning Star," with an aggregate of $860,000, for the purposes of mining gold and silver lodes, in Owyhee county. The incorporators in each of them are, J. C. Ainsworth, R. R. Thompson, Lloyd Brooke.

THANKSGIVING at the Methodist Church on Thursday evening was highly creditable to the young ladies of the Academy and Seminary. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, we could not notice any distinction in the essays, orations, and songs, they all deserve a good word. At the close of the exercises a collection was taken up in behalf of the Sanitary Commission, amounting to $30 and $9 in currency.

THE principal business before the Circuit Court yesterday was the hearing of arguments of counsel connected with the injunction restraining the property seized for taxes by the City Collector. Lengthy arguments were made, covering the subject of assessments generally. No decision has yet been rendered.

UNION DOWN.—A small steamer passed in front of the city on Monday last, with the flag and Stripes raised, union down. It could not have been intended as a signal of distress, so we apprehend there was some mistake about it.

DOG FIGHT.—A terrific fight occurred on First street yesterday, between two ferocious dogs, which lasted for some time. Many efforts to separate them were unavailing, until at last they were parted by choking, with ropes.

THE sale of fruit trees from the future site of the new Court House, on Saturday last, amounted to but little, and Sheriff Ladd has decided to sell at private sale as the demand occurs.

MORNING STOCK.—We were yesterday shown certificates representing upwards of $90,000 of shares, to be forwarded to stockholders in the Bancock Gold and Silver Mining Company, in Boise.

THE steamer Senator brought twenty passengers and seventy-eight tons of freight on her trip yesterday. Fifteen tons of her freight was in flour from the Standard Mills, Milwaukie.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.—In the suit of Corbett, Pittock, Brooke, Harker, Starr and others, against Lownsdale's administrator, and the heirs of Nancy Lownsdale, respecting the title to some three or four tier of blocks in this city, the Court granted an injunction restraining the administrators from selling the interest of Daniel H. Lownsdale in the estate of Nancy Lownsdale, deceased, and the heirs from encumbering, or complicating the titles, until partition can be made and the equities of the plaintiffs considered.

THE THEATRE.—The play of "Camille" will be produced at Willamette Theatre this evening, and that will close the engagement, which has been most successful and satisfactory. To-morrow the Company will leave for the Dalles, and in parting with them we can but wish them abundant success, wherever they may go.

OREGON CITY.—Another large meeting in behalf of the purposes of the Sanitary Commission, was held at Oregon City on the evening of the 22d, and an address delivered by Mr. Holbrook, of this city, upon "the duties of patriots, as suggested by the life of Washington." As usual, a contribution was taken up, amounting to over $55 in coin—a very liberal donation, when it is remembered that meetings are held every week, and that an equally generous response is always made.

RECORDER'S COURT. — In the Recorder's Court on Monday James S. Nolen was fined $5 and costs for exercising his horse on the sidewalk, which was paid. William Chaney was sent up, in default of $5 and costs, for disorderly conduct. John Parks, for a like offense paid a fine of $5 and costs. E. Boyd was arraigned for a violation of ordinance No. 16, but paid costs and was discharged.

THE MISSING BARK.—A dispatch was received from San Francisco yesterday, dated on the 19th inst., conveying intelligence to Messrs. Richards & McCraken, of this city, that the bark Ivanhoe had returned to San Francisco, and would again sail in a few days.

AT the Bolpasi celebration, on the 22d, $250 was contributed to the aid of the Sanitary Commission; $200 from the sale of tickets, and $50 by collection. The affair is said to have been a decided success.

THE bark Industry is reported in San Francisco with her cargo of 6,000 boxes of Oregon apples. The steamer Oregon, with 3,600 box, arrived on the 10th, and her cargo was all sold at from $2 25 to $3 25 per box, according to condition, the great bulk selling at $2 50.

GOSSIP.—The San Francisco correspondent of the Virginia Bulletin says the reason of Mr. Browne's (Artemus Ward's) sudden departure from California, was the refusal of his "heart and hand" by Miss Sallie B. Goodrich, who is now playing an engagement with Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, in this City.

FISHING.—An abundant supply of Willamette trout are daily caught along our wharves on the river, and appear to create quite a mania for fishing.

FREIGHTERS.—The Wilson G. Hunt carried to the Cascades yesterday, two heavy freight wagons and 18 yoke of cattle, intended for teaming freight to the mines.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES are at the office in this city for J. A. Carr and S. S. Snow.

THE steamer Pioneer arrived from the Cascades yesterday.

[COMMUNICATION.]

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The last Thursday in February—the 25th—has been designated, for several years, as a day of united prayer for our American Colleges and other institutions of learning; that the teachers may be imbued with wisdom from God, and sustained in their arduous efforts to implant sound moral principles in the hearts of their pupils, while instructing their minds, and that the youth, gathered in our schools, may receive the great truth that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and a good understanding have all they that do his commandments," and thus be eminently fitted for the responsibilities, devolving upon citizens of the "Great Republic."

We hope that these objects will be remembered at all the Thursday eve prayer meetings. COM.

FIVE DOLLARS AN HOUR!—Such is the sum an acquaintance tells us he made last week in San Francisco by purchasing a suit from Houston, Hastings & Co., the large Clothing firm of San Francisco. And the best of it is that his suit fits to a charm; is of fashionable cut as well as good in workmanship. We do not know a house we would more readily recommend than the above firm.

The Invalid Wife.

Every wife needs a good stock of love to begin with. Don't she! You are upon a sick bed; a little feeble thing lies on your arm, that you might crush with one hand. You take those little velvet fingers in yours, close your eyes, and turn your head languidly to the pillow. Little brothers and sisters—Carrie, and Harry, and Fanny, and Frank, and Willie, and Mary and Kitty—half a score—come tiptoeing into the room, to see the new baby. It is quite an old story to "nurse," who sits like an automaton, while they give vent to their enthusiastic admiration of its wee toes and fingers, and make profound enquiries which nobody sees best to hear. You look on with a languid smile, and they pass out, asking why they can't "stay with dear mamma," and why they must n't "play pues in the corner" as usual? You wonder if your little crumpy boy tied his tippet on when he went to school, and whether Betty will see that your husband's flannel is aired, and if Peggy has cleaned the silver, and washed off the front door steps, and what your blessed husband is about that he don't come home to dinner. There sits old nurse, keeping up that dreadful treadmill trotting "to quiet the baby," till you could fly through the key-hole in desperation. The odor of dinner begins to creep up stairs. You wonder if your husband's pudding will be made right, and if Betty will remember to put wine in the sauce, as he likes it: and then the perspiration starts out on your forehead as you hear it thumping on the stairs, and a child's suppressed scream: and nurse swathes the baby up in flannels to the tip of her nose, dumps it down in the easy chair, and calls you to leave the family to her and go to sleep. By and by she comes in—after staying down long enough to get a refreshing cup of coffee—and walks up to the bed with a bowl of gruel, tasting it, and then putting the spoon back into the bowl. In the first place, you hate gruel; in the next, you could not eat if she held a pistol at your head, after that spoon had been in her mouth; so you meekly suggest that it be set on the table to cool—hoping by some providential interposition, it may get tipped over. Well, she moves round your room with a pair of creaking shoes and a brand-new gingham gown that rattles like a paper window curtain at every step; and smoothes her hair with your nice little head brush, and opens a drawer by mistake (?), thinking it was the baby's drawer. Then your hear little nails scratching on the door, and Charley whispers through the key-hole, "Mamma, Charley's tired; please let Charley come in." Nurse scowls and says no; but you intercede—poor Charley, he's only a baby himself. Well, he leans his head against the pillow, and looks suspiciously at that little moving bundle of flannel in nurse's lap. It's clear he had a hard time of it, what with tears and molasses! The little shining curls, that you have so often rolled over your fingers, are a tangled mass; and you long to take him and make him comfortable, and coset him a little; and then, baby cries again, and you turn your head to the pillow with a smothered sigh. Nurse hears it, and Charley is taken, struggling, from the room. You take your watch from under your pillow, to see if husband won't be home soon, and then at nurse, who takes a pinch of snuff over your gruel, and sits down nodding drowsily, with the baby in an alarming proximity to the fire! Now you hear a dear step on the stairs. It's your Charley! How bright he looks! and what nice fresh air he brings with him from out of doors! He parts the bed curtains, looks in, and pats you on the cheek. You just want to lay your head on his shoulder and have such a splendid cry! but there sits that old Gorgon of a nurse, she don't believe in husbands, she don't! You make Charley a Freemason sign to send her down stairs for something. He says—right out loud—men are so stupid!—"What did you say, dear?" Of course you protest you did n't say a word—never thought of such a thing! and cuddle your head down to your ruffled pillows, and cry because you are weak and weary, and full of care for your family and don't want to see anybody but "Charley." Nurse says "she shall have you sick," and tells your husband he'd better go down and "let you go to sleep." Off he goes, wondering what on earth ails you to cry—wishes he had nothing to do but lie still and be waited upon! After dinner he comes in to bid you good bye, before he goes to his office—whistles "Nellie Ely" loud enough to wake up the baby, whom he calls a "comical little concern," and then pats his dear thick-tressed head down to your pillow as a signal from you, to hear what you have to say. Well, there's no help for it, you cry again, and only say "Dear Charley," and he laughs, and settles his dickey and says you are a "nervous little puss" gives you a kiss, lights his cigar at the fire, half strangles the new baby with the first whiff, and takes your fears off with him down the street.

And you lie there and eat that gruel! and pick the fuzz all off the blanket, and make faces at the nurse under the sheet, and wish Eve had never ate that apple,—Genesis iii—16; or that you were "Abel to Cain" her for doing it!—Fanny Fern.

IRVING AT THE IRVING HOUSE.—I arrived in town safe, and, proceeded to the Irving House, where I asked for a room. What party had I with me? None. Had I not my lady with me? No; I was alone. I saw my chance was a bad one, and I feared to be put in a dungeon, as I was on a former occasion. I bethought myself of your advice, and, when the book was presented, wrote my name at full length—from Sunnyside. My dear Sarah, I was ushered into an apartment on the first floor, (second story,) furnished with rosewood, yellow damask, pier-glasses, &c.; a sumptuous bed-room, with a bed large enough for an alderman and his wife; a bath-room adjoining. In a word, I am accommodated completely en prince. The negro waiters all call me by name, and vie with each other in waiting on me. The chambermaid has been at uncommon pains to put my rooms in first-rate order, and, if she had been pretty, I absolutely should have kissed her; but as she was not, I shall reward her in sordid coin. Henceforth, I abjure hotel keepers, and will get as much for my name as it will fetch. Kennedy calls it traveling on one's capital.—From Irving's Memories.

WOMAN.—There is nothing can make a fool of a man quicker than a pretty woman. If he had but five dollars in his pocket, and that sum were especially intended to save a family from starvation, should he meet a pretty woman of his acquaintance on his way, ten chances to one he would take her to Taylor's and have a champagne lunch. Two smiles, producing two inviting dimples, will make any ordinary minded masculine forget everything but their presence. Who can blame Adam for eating that apple? Even in these days there are plenty of us who would go one tooth on it, & any ruts. Imagine yourself alone, in a garden, a bright summer's day over you, and the incense of a thousand flowers floating on the soft summer air. Fancy yourself in such a place, alone with a beautiful, smiling young woman, and she, her face glowing with blushes, her dark eyes resting upon you in dreamy voluptuousness—fancy yourself thus with her, and she offering you a luscious pippin—could you, would you refuse to go one tooth on it? Then don't blame Adam for being a fool, and don't blame Eve for taking him in.

BELIEVING THE WORLD.—Don't try to bully the world. It don't pay. Whoever enters the ring for a rough and tumble fight with Public Opinion is pretty sure, eventually, to be "doubled up." Society is a Briareus, and who but a madman would think of encountering a hundred-armed fellow with a single pair of fists? Better shake the multitudinous hands of the giant good-naturedly, than unnecessarily provoke him to wrath. Despise the world, if it so pleases you—though to do so is a proof of arrogance, conceit and egotism—but as you have to live in the world, to lean on the world, and cannot get along without the world, it is just as well to treat it civilly. Shrewd men, who understand their race, never seek a quarrel with society. They understand that it is possible for an individual to persuade, lead and quietly control a community, but not to fight it down. If you desire to reform social evils, or to disabuse your fellow-men of their prejudices, the surest way not to succeed is to resort to denunciation and abuse. Kindness, conciliation, the influence of good example—these are the true and effective means and principles of reform. Provoke the world, spit its will in arm against you, and you can never carry your point, be it what it may. For mankind has more power to resist, than any unit of the mass has to insist. With what mildness, with what patience, with what loving kindness Christianity was taught by its Sacred Founder, and His knowledge of human nature was more profound and perfect than that of any mortal. The Evangelists and the Apostles besought the world to hear them; they did not attempt to browbeat it. "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian," said Festus to Paul. It would be well if some of our modern reformers had the courtesy and wise consideration of that great Apostle. Whether your object be to do good to the world or to make the world of service to your own interest, don't assault it violently, for it is too strong and too obstinate to be carried by storm. Ishmael tried that plan, and it did not answer. Thousands have tried it since, and been worsted in the conflict.

PLEASING EVERYBODY.—We do not remember to have read anything better than the following sentiments. They are true to the letter: "Heaven help the man who imagines he can dodge his enemies by trying to please everybody! If such an individual ever succeeded, we should be glad to know it. Not that we believe in a man's going through the world trying to find beams to knock his head against, disputing every man's opinion, showing and crowding all who differ from him. That again is another extreme. Other people have a right to their own opinion—so have you; but don't fall into the error of supposing they respect you more for turning your coat every day to match theirs in color. Wear your own colors, in spite of wind or weather, storm or sunshine. It costs the vacillating and irresolute ten times the trouble to wind and shuffle that it does honest, manly independence to stand its ground. Take what time you please to make up your mind; having once made it up, stick to it like a burr to a chestnut."

VERY INJURIOUS TO THE EYES.—Ladies, before you expend the sum—be it seventy-five cents or seventy-five dollars—for a bit of gossamer with which to enhance your beauty by partially concealing it, pause and think. Cutis, a celebrated scientific writer on human sight, objects in toto to the practice of wearing veils, as the continuous efforts of the eye to adjust itself to the senseless vibrations of that to it common article of ladies' dress, results in its serious injury. The hurtful tendency of the custom, if not felt immediately, will sooner or later be made apparent. Some physicians go so far as to ascribe much of the near-sightedness of children and adults to the fact that their mothers were in the constant habit of wearing lace veils.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown
Editor of the Encyclopedia

Although not given to the use of Patent Medicines in general, I have used Hoofland's German Bitters, and effects; I yet have no hesitation in saying that they are the best preparation of the kind with which I am acquainted, and I do not hesitate to recommend them to those who are in need of a tonic, as I have received from my use of them. Many others have derived the same benefit from their use that I have.

I do this the more readily, because I wish to see the credit due to whom it belongs, and because I wish persons who are laboring under the impression that all Patent Medicines are a mixture. I am induced to make this statement.

Rev. J. for the benefit of those who are laboring under such an impression, and for the encouragement of the afflicted.

Rev. and obedient servant,
J. NEWTON BROWN.

Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, you have asked me to say something in favor of Hoofland's German Bitters that saved my life. That is a task I take in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my fellow citizens, some of whose names are appended, and I can truthfully say that every statement is a fact, and I am fully conversant of all the circumstances of my case, and have been for the last four years, a member of the same company with Dr. Jackson's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain E. B. Ayres. During the whole time I was attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked with the fever and ague, which terminated in a severe form of typhoid fever last fall. After inflammation of the lungs, and was confined seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by a great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery, which was then removed from the White House, and was finally discharged the city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I was landed on the 25th of June. Since that time I am sorry to say that about as low as one could be and still retain life. For a week or more I was scarcely able to retain anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was positively thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; accordingly, the physicians who had been working hard, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make the disposition of my limited funds as best suited my case. Fortunately, acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me to try your forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly sent me a bottle. From the time I commenced taking it the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am happy to say, God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but a few bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel almost as well as ever, being permitted to rejoin my wife and family, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months. As a gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the county of Fairfax, Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe my existence, the positivity of life which has taken the place of death, and to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of once more embracing to my bosom those who are dearer to me than life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MAUPIN.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, having had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Maupin restored to life.
